

NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS

Provincial liquor laws allow staff of this UBrew or UVin (Ferment on Premises) establishment to provide customers with the ingredients, equipment, and advice they need to make their own wine, beer, cider, or coolers on site.

This establishment is not licensed to manufacture liquor for sale to the public and may not take orders or supply customers with finished product.

For customers physically incapable of safely performing some of the production steps, staff may provide assistance.

Customers may sample their own product prior to bottling to ensure taste acceptability (up to a maximum of 2 samples, each not more than 100 ml or 3 fluid ounces).

Customers are required to perform the following steps:

- pay for all ingredients purchased here prior to starting the manufacturing process
- pay for services prior to starting the manufacturing process if using personal ingredients
- sign a declaration saying the product is for personal use
- combine and mix ingredients
- add any yeast or enzymes to the fermentation container
- sterilize bottles and remove or deface any commercial labels
- bottle the product
- label, cork, cap or shrink-wrap bottles
- remove the bottled product immediately after bottling

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Liquor and Cannabis Regulation Branch